Workshop Descriptions

Mental Health First Aid is a 9- hour workshop and will run during every workshop block over the 3- day conference

All other sessions on Tuesday October 18 are 1.5 hours long and are running twice.

You will be able to attend 2 different sessions on Tuesday.

1A/2A/3A/4A/5A

Mental Health First Aid- 12 HOURS OF TRAINING OVER 3 DAYS

Presenter: Brenda Johnson

Mental Health First Aid is the help provided to a person developing a mental health concern or experiencing a mental health crisis. Just like physical first aid is provided until medical treatment can be obtained, MHFA is given until appropriate support is found or until the crisis is resolved.

In MHFA Training, you will:

- Gain awareness & understanding of common mental health concerns
- Promote recovery of good mental health
- Provides comfort to a person experiencing a mental health concern
- Learn steps to encourage someone to access help

1B/2B- 1.5-hour session run twice

Problem Gambling and Digital Dependency

Presenters: Lisa Jackson and Amanda Fobister

The OARGP-WG presentation will discuss how to recognize when someone has a problem and offer self-Help and treatment options for people with a problem.

With the rise in the use of social media, we will explore Internet and technology use (with a focus on safety concerns and making informed decisions), Social media, Video games and gaming and Internet gambling as well as offer steps to take to stay safe and reduce potential harms of tech use.

1C/2C 1.5-hour session run twice

A Brief Overview of Indigenous Human Trafficking and Culture-Based Trauma Informed Practices

Presenter: Colin Graham

Collin will discuss briefly about the impacts of colonial history and how it plays into contemporary vulnerabilities of Indigenous peoples. There will be experiential learning processes as well as obtaining tools on how to take control over your trauma. He will be discussing the power of language and how to change our narratives for the betterment of ourselves and community.

1D/2D1.5-hour session run twice

Relapse Prevention and Aftercare

Presenter: John Dulude

This workshop will explore how to create, organize and facilitate Aftercare Groups. John will discuss how we can intertwine Abstinence based facilitation with Harm Reduction treatments. He will also review what relapse prevention strategies we use with our clients to help them improve the quality of their lives.

1E/2E1.5-hour session run twice

Epigenetics

Presenter: Carol Hopkins

Epigenetics is the study of how environmental factors and experiences can alter how our genes are expressed without changing the DNA sequence. Everyone is born with unique DNA, which cannot change. However, researchers now know that experience can make DNA 'tags' which attach themselves to genes, making them turn on or off. While the same DNA is still present, it may not work, or may work differently, which ultimately means the role of that DNA has changed. This altered state is not permanent. Thunderbird's interest in epigenetics work is connected to the recent movement to study epigenetics in the realm of addictions, trauma and mental health. The work in epigenetics is in

Wednesday October 17, 2018

 Please note that on the Afternoon of Wednesday October 17,2018 will be holding

De Ba Gee Mon-Telling your Story, Sharing our Successes

This plenary session will provide an environment for discussion, networking and collaboration by allowing everyone the opportunity to share best practices in addictions prevention and counselling from their communities. This will be an opportunity to network and share resources and learn about the positive programs and services that are taking place in different communities.

This is your chance to share some of the successes and great programs that are happening in your community!

Wednesday October 17, 2018 Sessions

All sessions on this day are 3-hours long and run once over the two-time blocks. You will be able to attend one workshop on this day.

3B 3-hours long

Opioid Addiction and First Nations

Presenter: Mae Katt

Objectives:

1. To highlight Suboxone programs and community wellness in underserved areas
2. To review strategies to increase access to treatment and wellness with culture and land as foundation
3. To provide the context to understand the experience of First Nations and historical harms
4. To facilitate a discussion of Ontario and the changing treatment landscape
5. To explain how Nurse Practitioners can work with First Nations to address the opioid epidemic and overdoses

3C3-hours long

A Journey in Rainbow Moccasins

Presenter: Teddy Syrette

A Journey in Rainbow Moccasins is an interactive presentation that focuses on Indigenous-LGBTQ2S+ (lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans, queer/questioning, 2-Spirit+) communities. This workshop is designed to challenge what people know and what they don't know about Indigeniety, gender, gender expression, sexuality/romantic attraction. Folks will discuss topics and participate in a 2S/QTIP (Queer-Trans Indigenous Person) Wellness Cycles that provides an overview of everything that is discussed in the workshop. This workshop is open to audiences of any ages and incorporates storytelling, allyship building and humour.

3D3-hours long

Using Traditional Medicines for Self-Care and Healing

Presenter: Kelly Jeffords

This is a uniquely designed workshop for front-line workers and staff. Traditional medicines, teachings and prayers will be used to assist and direct conversations around the hard work that is provided within communities.

Participants will engage in a hands-on approach to identify their strengths and how to use them in a positive way. We will discuss how to take personal responsibility for one's own healing and how to promote self-care while working with clients in their communities.

3E3-hours long- this session is open to men only

Healing the Wounded Warrior: Personal Effectiveness for Men

Based on the traditional concept that men are warriors, protectors and providers for their families and communities, many of our men have been led off their path through addictions, unresolved grief and repressed issues. This workshop helps men develop skills needed to address these areas and become true modern day warriors.

Thursday October 18, 2018 Sessions

Sessions on this day are a mixture of 1.5- hour sessions run twice and 3- hour sessions run once. Please pay attention to the length of the workshop you are signing up for.

4B- 3-hour session

4D/5D-- 1.5-hours long- run twice

Healing Through Song

Presenter: H.Neil Monague

Neil has been travelling the red road since 1988. He is an alcoholic and has been sober for 33 years. He started singing in 1994 when he made his first drum. That drum travelled with him for 22 years working for the people. The retired drum has helped people mentally, physically, spiritually and emotionally. This workshop will help participants to discover why song is important in our life.

4E- - 1.5-hours long- run once

Breaking the Cycle: Methods and Strategies for Protecting Children Against and Recovering from Adverse Childhood Experiences and PTSD

Presenter: Dr. Adele Diamond

Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) constitute a huge societal and public health problem. The single greatest mitigating factor is terrific mothering – responsive parenting by a caring, warm adult. This does not have to come from the child's mother or even a relative. This can completely override the effects of early adversity or disadvantage. The most important predictor of the success of an early childhood program, psychotherapy, or a parent-child relationship is that the child feel that his/her teacher, therapist, or parent really, truly cares about him or her. Your love -- your openness to truly listen; being there for a child when he or she needs you -- is more important than your knowledge or skill or doing the textbook-perfect thing. So relax; you don't need to have read all the books or have expensive toys or gadgets.

We need to routinely consider that a child or adult might be acting in the most awful manner because he or she has been terribly hurt and is afraid of being hurt again, and so may try to push you away before you have a chance to reject him or her or test you to see if are really someone he or she can feel safe with. If we see the behavior as coming from hurt, we can react completely differently.

Children and adults need to know they are valued and that you care about them. They need to see that you believe in them and they need do-able challenges to see for themselves that they are capable. They need to feel proud of who they are and where they come from. For recovery, it is essential that First Nations communities advocate for their rights, reclaim their history, relearn their traditional ways, and embrace their culture and language.

For recovery, a person needs to feel safe and feel part of a supportive community. People need to be able to express their feelings and have someone to talk to. Painful feelings can last forever unless they are faced head on and addressed. Once they are voiced, they often lose their power just because they have seen the light of day. Drugs like MDMA and 3MMC can make it possible to talk about horrific pain without being re-traumatized. They can be an immense aid to healing.

Re-storying your life and having a purpose (a reason to get up in the morning) can also be huge aids to healing. The bad things that happened to you or were done to you were not your fault. It can make all the difference if you can create a life where your past ordeals and suffering help or enable you to be better able to help others or in some way have something good emerge from what had been so horrible. In this way, a person can create a counter-narrative – instead of being a victim, you can re-story your life so you are a survivor or champion.
